THE ADKINSON HOME . . . This home was built by Mr. Snowden Boyd in 1918. Mr. Boyd came to Elba as president of the First National Bank. After his death in 1920, the home was bought by his brother Mr. L.A. Boyd Sr. who gave the home to his daughter Mildred and her husband Harris Murphree. The Murphree family consisted of Boyd, Dorothy, Marjorie, Roger and Joel. In 1941 the Murphrees moved to Jackson, Miss., and the home was sold to Southern Benefit Insurance Co. The Kline Bentley family and Houghton Ben Larkins families both lived in the home during those years. Mrs. Mollie English Loflin bought the home after the First Baptist Church purchased her "Old Jail" home on Simmons St. Mrs. Loflin and Miss Sallie Collier lived together in the home until their deaths. In 1970 Bettye and Waylon Adkinson, the present owners, purchased the home.

County Commission ponders location, financing for new jail

The need for a new county jail and a method of financing its construction were the main topics Monday, June 26, when the Coffee County Commission gathered in regular session at the courthouse in Enterprise.

A legal representative of the Alabama Association of County Commissioners was at the meeting and informed the group that a lawsuit filed on June 2 by inmates at the county jail had reached Federal Judge Myron Thompson, and while Judge Thompson had not granted the plaintiffs' request for an immediate hearing, it was clear that the county was facing the definite possibility of building a new county jail.

Judge Thompson has given the commission two months to devise a funded plan for the construction of a new jail or plans to bring the present jail up to federal standards, stated Darryl Masters, who is representing the commission in the lawsuit, "and if the commission can come up with some concrete plans the lawsuit will be dropped. If the commission fails to meet the deadline; however, the federal courts will step in and the county will have to build a jail that would have to meet the court's standards. You as commissioners have your destiny in your own hands. You can either do it yourself or somebody else will do it for you."

Comm. Chairman Billy Eagerton stated "We have all looked at the county's budget and I think we must decide what is the best for the future of the county. I think we could construct a 75-inmate jail that would meet all federal requirements and at the same time leave space for expansion. Twenty percent of the jail must be for maximum security prisoners and requirements are different for those in maximum security."

"You as commissioners have your destiny in your own hands"

Attorney Darryl Masters

"It would cost an estimated $2.3 million to build the jail," added Eagerton, "but I believe that by using county forces and immediate labor from the State Department of Corrections, we could chop the construction costs down to $1 1/2 million."

"I would like to see the commission convert its short-term debts to one long-term debt and use a $2 million bond to finance the entire project," said Eagerton, "We could use $100,000 per year from the budget to cover the added bond payments and it would bring the county's yearly commitment to $300,000 for twenty years."

Comm. Robert Stephens stated "I'm against adopting any sales tax to finance the construction of a new jail, unless there is absolutely no other way to build it."

Elba Mayor Fred Moore was at the meeting and told the commission, "The City of Elba has three tracts of land that we will donate to the county for a site of a new jail. The best site is an 87 acre tract at the Industrial Park, across from the airport, while the next best location is a 45 acre site on Alabama 203 across from the Work Release Center. I want the commission to know that we in Elba want to keep the county jail in our city and that we are willing to assist the county in any way possible."

Comm. Stephens made a motion that the commission accept the offer from Elba and accept the tract of land across from the Work Release Center and the motion was seconded by Comm. Jim Dubose.

Comm. Danacus Crittenden expressed the opinion that "We need to study our options before we tell Elba the jail will either remain where it is or we will build a new jail at one of the locations offered. If we are not careful we will commit for another 80-years to provide Elba with a jail."

Comm. Dubose then withdrew his second and stated "I think it would be best if we would wait until the architect studied all the possible locations and then proceed and go with the location that would be best for all of Coffee County."

Comm. Stephens made another motion that the architect study the top two sites in Elba, if the sites were acceptable, the county accept the city's offer and build a new jail in Elba.

The motion died due to a lack of a second.

Comm. Eagerton continued the discussion by stating "Eight years ago the commission employed an architect to do a study for a new jail and paid the architect $26,000 in fees. The architectural firm employed was Pearson, Humphries and Jones, from Montgomery, and the firm has agreed to deduct the $26,000 from its new fees if it is used for the design of the new jail."

Eagerton then made a motion to employ the firm; however, a vote was never taken.

Comm. Dubose, referring to Eagerton's plan of financing the jail, declared "The county is already strapped for funds and I don't see where we can get $100,000 from what we already have to make the bond payment. I suggest we meet with the cities and together implement a one-cent county-wide sales tax. Half of the tax would go to the county, while the other half would remain with the cities. It would be the best for all involved."

Comm. Crittenden remarked that "I will support a one-cent sales tax to pay for the construction of a jail and then when the jail is built it should come off."

Comm. Eugene Bradley stated "I think we should let Enterprise keep their newly imposed one-cent sales tax and put on a one-cent sales tax for the county to be used to build the new jail."

Eagerton, obviously weary of the dilemma facing the county, declared "The laws are crazy! The laws are not for the innocent, but for the guilty. I believe that people have to give up some of their rights and comforts when they in jail and it's not right for the innocent taxpayers to have to foot the bill to make sure the guilty get a certain amount of room and room to receive recreation."

As was the case in choosing a location, the commission made no decision concerning a method of financing the construction of a new jail.

The commission did, however, agree to get the architectural firm mentioned to study the three sites in Elba, as well as one site in both Enterprise and New Brockton, and to meet with the commission and representatives from the four cities in the county at a special meeting on Thursday, June 29, at 9:00 a.m. at the courthouse in Enterprise.

Monday's meeting began at 9:00 a.m. with the first order of business being the awarding of bids for the Highway Department.

Heath Oil was the low bidder on diesel fuel ($4.97) and gasoline ($3.52), while Wiregrass Construction received the contract for plant mix leveling ($30.89 per ton) and Traffic Signs received the contract for road signs with a low bid of $9,213.50.

Coffee County Revenue Commissioner Ronnie Burns informed the commission of the final tax records for the year and announced that during the past year the office had collected over $4 1/2 million. Burns also stated that a total of $11,500 in taxes were non-collectable.

The commission approved the statement as read.

County engineer Mark Pool presented the commission with a list of changes to the budgets for the Highway Dept. and the Engineering Department.

The changes in the Highway Dept. showed an increase of $185,000 in revenues and an increase in expenditures of $136,000, while the changes in the Engineering

Dept. included an increase of $11,000 in revenue and $10,000 in expenditures.

Pool reported the departments had reserves funds in the amount of $47,000 and $27,000 and requested that he be allowed to purchase a computer system for the Engineering Dept., at an estimated cost of $7,500.

Pool explained the software for the computer would be donated by Auburn University and assured the commission that the computer was needed.

The commission approved the changes in the budget and the request for the computer.

Comm. chairman Billy Eagerton announced that Commission Clerk Bruneau Winston had submitted her resignation.

Mrs. Winston has worked in the commission office since 1971 and prior to that served for a total of 14 years in the Tax Assessor's office.

The resignation will become effective upon the employment of a replacement, at which time Mrs. Winston will work on a part-time basis until her replacement is trained.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the commission:

agreed to lease the Alabama Forestry Commission a partial of land in New Brockton for a period of 35 years;

voted not to accept any bids after 9:00 a.m. on the day the bids are to be opened;

upon a request by Comm. Robert Stephens, voted to pass a resolution asking Cong. Bill Dickinson, Sen. Howell Helfin and Sen. Richard Shelby to seek a constitutional amendment making it against the law to burn or desecrate the United States flag;

discussed the need for garbage pickup at Zion Chapel school;

agreed to fix leaks in the roof at the Mt. Pleasant voting house;

heard Comm. Bill Faulk report on a meeting held concerning self-insurance plans;

and, adjourned until Thursday at 9:00.

STOLEN TRUCK INVOLVED IN WRECK NEAR ELBA...A pickup truck reported stolen in Opp Monday morning was recovered in Elba Monday afternoon when it was involved in a one-vehicle accident on Highway 84 West. According to Elba Police Dept. officials, Adam Pierce, of Opp, was driving the vehicle when he apparently lost control. The driver left the scene and was later apprehended approximately 1/2 mile from the scene of the accident. Charges in connection with the stolen vehicle are pending in Opp. Taking part in the incident were State Trooper Ronnie Whitworth, Coffee County Sheriff's Department and Elba police.

Illegal voting charges dropped against New Brockton woman

Circuit Judge Gary McAliley issued a judgment of acquittal last week for a woman charged with illegal voting in a municipal election.

The decision, announced on Tuesday, June 20, drew applause from those gathered in the courtroom in Enterprise and apparently brought the curtain down on the long standing controversy concerning the city's mayoral election.

Mrs. Carroll, called for the dismissal of charges and declared "There's just not any evidence!"

Gareth Lindsey, attorney for Mrs. Carroll, called for the dismissal of charges and declared "There's just not any evidence!"

With Ferrin Cox

The City of Enterprise added a 1¢ sales tax at a special meeting recently. We haven't talked with any member of the city government about this matter but suspect it was done real quickly to get in before the county commission comes back with a tax to build a jail. The merchants are howling about the tax going to 8¢ on the dollar but not as loud as they would if it was going to 9¢. Then when the commissioners wonder aloud if Enterprise will "give up" a half cent tax, etc., we kinda snicker. The city council of Enterprise is in the cabaret seat and will be calling the shots on just about any sales tax decision made... except for one by a federal judge.

Keep in mind on this sales tax matter that the commission can install that tax on us with one vote, even though it will be only for the duration of any bond issue to build a jail. They can build a one-million-dollar jail or a ten-million-dollar jail, put on the tax and it will be in force until the bonds are all repaid.

The Elba Planning and Zoning Board will hear two petitions to rezone property at a Thursday afternoon meeting. The purpose of the change is to allow mobile homes on the property. We have no problem with mobile homes; some of the best neighbors we have ever had lived in mobile homes. However, we do have problems with rezoning a spot here and a spot there. For years we have understood that there was a Supreme Court opinion that limits rezoning to areas with at least 600 front feet. Now we hear from the Elba city attorney that the state Supreme Court has ruled this eliminates the "little man" or the poor. We don't want to do that either, but if we are going to rezone any spot, anywhere... why have zoning laws? Zoning laws are unfair to a property owner who wants to change the use of his or her property... until this change interferes with a neighbor's use of his property or lowers the resale value of that neighboring property by making it less desirable to own.

We went to a high school class reunion last Saturday and it was a humbling experience. This was the first time in 33 years the class has gathered and some of our classmates of twelve years have aged quite a bit! Seriously, we will be eternally grateful to the classmates who did the legwork and put forth the effort into making the gathering a reality. If you get the opportunity to go to a gathering of your classmates, we strongly urge you to make the extra effort... your presence will be appreciated.

We pulled another of our boners Saturday. We loaded up with covered dish and all for a family reunion. It was in Florida, AL, right in the middle of all their Masonic celebration, or so we thought. After fighting through folks participating in a rain drenched parade, we failed to find the family. Thinking we went to the wrong place, we began to hunt... again back into the parade folks. The bottom line is our inattention to detail (that sounds better than dumbness) caused us to show up a week early!

The ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court that it wasn't illegal to burn the American flag got the anticipated adverse reaction. We have an opinion also. We are flag wavers and this should cover our opinion but it doesn't. As some friends correctly predicted, we would defend the 1st amendment right to free speech. We are horrified to see film of the man who won the ruling and hear him badmouthing the American flag and what it stands for. We would like to throw him in a deep ocean. However when you talk of changing the 1st amendment, we get a little jittery. If we open that door, there will be enough change to the amendment that we couldn't even recognize it. Of course we will soon forget this Supreme Court ruling as it is expected they will within a few days again rule on the abortion issue.

HAVE A SAFE & HAPPY 4TH

It began years ago as simply a hobby for a young school teacher needing a little extra spending money.

It has now evolved into a small business which employs three people on a full-time basis and ships merchandise as far away as Oregon.

If his dreams come true, someday the hobby will turn into a small industry that will not only provide an income for the teacher and his family, but also for those employed at the plant in Elba!

Ken English, a native of Covington County and the head basketball coach at Coffee Springs High School, has owned and operated the Elba Frame and Gift Shop in Elba for the past three years, but has been involved with the creation and sale of handmade items since his days in college and throughout his career in education.

"I've always liked to work with my hands," said English while taking a break from a busy afternoon of work, "and really got involved with sculptures and casts while making statues of various celebrities. As the years passed I became more and more fascinated in molds and the things that could be created and that eventually led into what I now hope will become a small industry."

The business that English has founded is English Diversified Products, located in Elba, in the building previously housed by Fox-Frye Sporting Goods.

"What we make are architectural components," explained English, "and primarily we make column capitals. The capitals are made in six different designs, such as Roman Corinthian and Greek Erechtheum, and each design comes in 10 different sizes. We also make forms for taxidermists to use in the stretching of skins and in the near future hope to expand into pre-fab mantles, archways and entrance ornaments."

"We got into the column caps business when I learned that there was only one company making the product in the nation, and I was convinced that through my working with casts and statues that I could offer a better product at a better price. We use special components that make the casts harder and more durable and I feel we do a much better job in detail work."

English reported that Henderson, Black and Green, located in Troy, is one of the largest manufacturers of columns in the nation, making the location of his plant in Elba almost perfect, but also reported that he shipped the column caps as far away as Oregon.

"The location in Elba is ideal because of the location of Henderson, Black and Green," stated English, "but it also causes some problems because when we order products the shipping costs are higher. We ship caps across the nation to as far away as Oregon and are seeking contracts nationwide."

English's plant in Elba has been BUSY AT WORK MEETING ORDERS. The two workers pictured above stay busy keeping up with the orders received for column capitals. The small business in Elba emerged from a hobby of Ken English and expansion appears to be just around the corner.

Whether it's raining or not, the Elba City Library has plenty to keep even the rowdiest children quiet and busy this summer. The library has books, books with cassettes and videos available for children and also sponsors special programs during the summer.

Trying to find something for the kids to do this summer now that ball season is almost over and you can't get any cooperation out of the weather man?

The Elba City Library may just be the answer you've been looking for!

The Elba City Library, located on Putnam Street, may be the best kept secret in town and has a large selection of books for kids of all ages.

For the PRE-SCHOOL crowd, the library offers picture books, number books and books with limited reading, as well as read-along books with cassettes and a large selection of children's videos.

The books may be checked out for two weeks, while the read-alongs are available for a week at a time and the videos are for overnight use.

The videos available at the library include such favorites as Charlie Brown, Rainy Day and Indoor Games and all the popular children's classics.

The library's JUNIOR SECTION, for children in grades 3-10, offers a tremendous number of books on almost any subject imaginable.

Both fiction and non-fiction books abound in the section and include such types as biographies of sports heroes and public figures, young teen subjects, mysteries, serials and books of just about every description. The library sponsors a "Story Hour" every Tuesday morning from 9:00 - 10:00 a.m. for preschool children and during the hour the children hear a story read by a guest story-teller.

A "Reading Program" for children in grades 1-4 is held every Tuesday afternoon from 2:00 - 3:00 p.m. and in the program the children are taught how to use the library, where to find books in the library and also hear from a variety of guest speakers.

Both the story hour and reading program will continue through July 25, with the exception of July 4.

The library is open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10:00-12:00 and 1:00-4:30, and on Tuesday and Thursday from 10:30-4:30.

For more information on the children's programs, or simply information about the library, call 897-6921.

PASTOR'S CORNER REV. LARRY POWELL ELBA FIRST ASSEMBLY

Free, But Bound

July 4th is the day that we set aside to celebrate our Independence as a nation. Many of our men have joined the ranks of the military and have fought for the freedoms that we enjoy. Praise the Lord for those who love their country, even to the point of making the supreme sacrifice for its freedom - the sacrifice of life! I thank God for those who have done their part to help keep us free from foreign domination.

I am glad to be a part of "the land of the free, and the home of the brave." But, all around us there are many men, women, boys and girls who are walking around FREE, BUT BOUND. That's right! You see, when Lazarus was raised from the grave, the Scriptures say that when he came forth he was "bound hand and foot with graveclothes." Jesus spoke up and told them to "Loose him, and let him go."

Today, there are many people who live in these United States, "the land of the free," yet they are bound! Many are bound by drugs, alcohol, and various evils of the world. In other words, many are BOUND BY SIN! What we need in America today is a "Revival of Freedom." I'm not talking about another Revolutionary war, because we are not under the oppression of another nation. I'm talking about a Revival that will make men Really Free!

On one occasion Jesus said "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." In that same conversation He went on to add, "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed" (John 8:32, 36).

Friend, true freedom can come ONLY as you accept Jesus Christ as Lord of your life. You see, you may be born, live and die in these

United States, and never be really free! What an irony, you can be "FREE, BUT BOUND!" But, if the Lord Jesus Christ lives in your heart, you are "Free Indeed." Free in the inner man. Free in your spirit. Free from sin, shame, and guilt. "Free Indeed!"

Remember, even though you live in America, "the land of the free, and the home of the brave," without Jesus Christ as Lord of your life you are, "FREE, BUT BOUND!"

If your telephone number begins with 897, here's what you should know.

There are lots of long-distance phone companies. Each has its own products and prices. But until now, only one of them offered you the convenience of "One-plus" dialing. If you wanted to use any of the others, you had to dial as many as 14 extra numbers.

No more. Thanks to a service called "Equal Access," you choose the company you prefer for "One-plus" dialing.

In the next few days, we will send you information explaining Equal Access, plus a ballot to let you choose among the long-distance companies serving your area. (If you don't make a choice, we're required to select a company for you.)

Read the material carefully. Then mark the ballot with the company of your choice and return it to us.

"Prince" Visits Elba Police Department Recently

Three members of the Military Police Unit from Ft. Rucker paid a visit to the Elba Police Department recently and while two of the members were Staff Sergeants, the other was a real "Prince!"

The purpose of the visit was to introduce "Prince," a six-year-old German Shepherd, to police officials and to inform the police that the dog is available to help sniff out explosives whenever called upon.

Staff Sgt. Michael Ordway, Kennel Master at Ft. Rucker, and Staff Sgt. Alfred Catalano, assistant Kennel Master and Bomb Dog Handler, brought the talented canine to Elba on Friday, June 23, and displayed the dog's skills by hiding two explosives in the police department, both of which the dog found in less than a minute.

The Ft. Rucker Military Police have a total of nine dogs on staff, including three German Shepherds, one Rottweiler and five Belgian Malinois.

While all nine dogs are attack trained, one is specialized in locating explosives, four are trained to locate heroin, cocaine, hash and marijuana and the other four are strictly attack animals.

Prince, the "Bomb Dog," can detect nine different odors of explosives and after locating the explosives sits and points. The dog never touches the explosives for fear of causing an explosion or damaging any problems.

Department Of Industrial Relations Encourages Employers To Hire Youth

With the arrival of the summer season, the Alabama Department of Industrial Relations (DIR) urges employers to meet the necessary guidelines for hiring youths.

All youths under the age of 17 must have a work permit in order to hold a job. This permit must be held on file by the employer, and is subject to examination without prior notification by inspectors from the DIR's Child Labor Section.

The Alabama Child Labor Law is designed to ensure the safety and well-being of juveniles in the workplace. Employers who violate the law are subject to fines up to $1,000. The first step in complying with the law is to ensure that each teenage applicant has a work permit. Work permits are issued to teenagers at high schools and school boards across the state.

DIR officials track child labor year-round, but summertime is traditionally the busiest time of the year for child labor because of the onslaught of school children looking for summer jobs.

Views From THE PRESSBOX

By, Ricky Mularz, Editor

I usually make anywhere from one to a hundred mistakes a day, some not as bad as others. However, last week I came close to making the ultimate goof-up when I somehow put the wrong player on the list of All-Stars for the 13-year-old Babe Ruth squad. The coach of the team called to find out why I had dropped a player off and added another, while the player I added was obviously upset upon learning he wasn't supposed to be on the team. I proofed the list before putting it in the paper, so I guess I messed up twice on the same thing. I apologize to everyone involved for my latest mistake and promise to try to cut down on my goof-ups in the future!

BABE RUTH STARS ARE BUSY AT WORK

The Elba Babe Ruth Baseball League announced its All-Star squads two weeks ago and the teams have been at work ever since getting ready for the upcoming district tournaments. The 13-year-old All-Stars, under the leadership of Robert Bowden, have been working daily in their preparation for the July 7 tourney opener and the youngsters are putting in a lot of long hours. Up in the 14-15-year-old squad Mickey McCollough is putting his troops through daily workouts and these guys are working just as hard they can. The older All-Stars won't play until July 13, but they'll be ready and if practice makes perfect, they should be hard to beat!

RAIN DAMPENS MINOR LEAGUE & GIRLS ENDINGS

The recent rains have washed out loads of ballgames in the various leagues in town, but no where was the rain felt as hard as in the Minor League baseball and girls softball leagues. The Minor League action was rained out three times in the past two weeks, while the girls got washed out three out of their final six games. The coaches from both leagues agreed that they had already played enough games and didn't have a desire to come back after July 4th to play the rain-outs, so, the leagues are finished for the year and maybe next summer they'll have a lot more sunny days.

CHURCH SOFTBALL LEAGUES GETTING READY TO GO

The Church Softball Leagues in Elba always wait until the men's softball league has started and then from the looks of things this year's season will kickoff on July 18. All churches in Elba and the surrounding area are encouraged to enter a team in the leagues, both men's and women's, and have a little fun while getting some exercise. C'mon folks, give it a try!

IN CLOSING...

Last week's paper had the list of All-Stars from both Babe Ruth and Dixie Youth and after the list came out there were a number of people who wondered out loud why certain players didn't make the squads. The squads in both leagues were chosen by a vote of the coaches and every coach got a chance to vote for any player he thought was deserving. When you cut a league from over 100 players to a 13-man All-Star team (as is done in Dixie Youth) there are bound to be good players left out and I know the youngsters are hurt when they don't make it. However, there have been All-Stars for years and years and not everyone can make it, even though we wish they could!

Rangers claim Minor League title with outstanding 9-1 record

The Rangers finished the season with a 9-1 record, followed by the Giants 6-3, Expos 6-4, Royals 4-5, Red Sox 2-6 and Indians 0-8.

Following are highlights of last week's action:

Categories are children through adult and this year comedian Jerry Clover will perform during the weekend festivities.

FARMING NOTES

By Richard L. Petcher, Asst. County Agent

Fred & Pauline Wood - Folks You'd Like To Know

Mr. Fred retired from teaching in 1976 and this couple is enjoying their retirement days with vegetable, fruit, and flower gardening. They certainly know what they are doing.

Their flowers, especially roses, are admired by all. Their sweet corn will be some of the first to be picked in Coffee County. Their blackberries, of course, are the large, sweet, but thornless type.

As far as gardening goes, they have a few tips for all of us, including a few varieties of crops we may not have grown. How about vining okra. The pods are tender and tasty and yet so long it only takes one to make a meal.

Not the first blade of grass was seen in their garden, where Mr. Fred weeds with a hoe. Of course, they take time out to do a little fishing. Their hobbies are fishing and keeping up with their five grandchildren. They share their flowers with friends and neighbors and church.

They moved to Kinston in November of 1943, where Mr. Fred taught Vocational Agriculture for 32 years. They are active in their church and members of the Ruritan Club and are certainly an inspiration to the entire community.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The Heartfelt Truth

Get in the groove, and start exercising. It doesn't take much time or effort. Exercising just three times a week for 15 to 30 minutes each time can make you feel like a new person. You have more energy. You feel less tense and can cope better with daily stress. You have added strength to work and play harder and longer. Even falling asleep is easier. And you look great! You firm up muscles and burn off extra calories and extra pounds! Your body becomes a fine-tuned machine—thanks to exercise.

The benefits don't stop there. Exercise helps fight heart disease and common health problems, too. It's true! Shaping up and staying fit helps you tackle problems like high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, diabetes, and being overweight. A healthy heart means a healthier life.

The Coffee County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is currently accepting acreage reports for 1989 planted, tilled and other farm program acres. Final reporting date is July 17, 1989, according to ASCS official David W. Eaddy.

Farmers who meet this deadline will avoid paying a late reporting fee of $8.00 plus 50 cents per acre, Eaddy said.

Before program participants can receive price support loans deficiency payments and other benefits, Eaddy said the entire farm must be certified. Program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted and the uses to be made of these crops, acreage conservation reserve, or tilled cropland.

To assist producers with acreage reports, ASCS offers measurement service. Producers can request measurement of planted crops, acreage conservation reserve land, fields or subdivisions, total cropland and land areas for other purposes, the ASCS official said.

Farmers in compliance with the 1989 acreage reduction programs are eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other farm program benefits.

HORTICULTURE TIPS

Controlling Fleas

Fleas are a nuisance—more so to some people than others. Fleas are difficult to control because of their life cycle. The adult flea lays eggs, the eggs hatch into larvae, the larvae goes into a cocoon and the cocoon develops an adult flea.

The length of this cycle varies tremendously. Therefore, several sprays are required to break this cycle. The most frequent complaint that I hear is, "Well, I sprayed but two or three days later I had fleas again." Most likely you killed the adults, but eggs hatched out after you sprayed. The spray should be applied at least three times 10 days to two weeks apart.

Some recommended varieties for inside the house are: Ronnel - dust or spray; Diazinon - 0.5 spray; Ronnel and Dichlorvos - various formulations; Pyrethrin - 0.05 - 5% synergized spray - temporary relief only; Chlorpyrifos (Dursban) - 0.5% premixed spray; and Methoprene (Precor - indoor fogger, follow directions.

For outside use Diazinon - 0.5% spray; Carbaryl, (Sevin) - 5% dust; Malathion - 5% dust; Ronnel - 1% spray.
